

The FCC should not implement
any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

I beleive Indiana's Telephone Privacy law
has improved our time at home.

I think the Indiana Law has been very effective.
"I used to receive several calls each night and now we very seldom ever get any.
There is nothing worst than being interupted at diner or with family time and receiving these anoying calls, especially when they will not accept your comment, not interested and you end up hanging up on them.
